BEMOVAL OF THE TELEGRAPH OFFICE -WO are glad to see that in d. ference to the very general entiment of the mercantile community (to which allusion was made in yesterday's NEWS) the Telegraph Company is about to remove its principa omee to a pos tion more accessi le and convenient for the busine s hou es of East Bay and the cotton wharves. The building on the south side of Broadstreet, between Meeting and Church streets, recently cupied by Mr. Hir m Harris, has been source and is now in course of renovation, preparatory it being occupied as selegraphic Headquarters. A site Bay itself, or more immediately in its vicinity, would have been preferred by those who furnish four-fiths of the local business of the company; but the new office will, nevertueless be a great improve ment se compared with the present location. The up-town community will lose nothing by the change, as it is understood that a branch office is to be opened at the Charleston Hotel.

THE THEATRE.—A fine audience, of whom a large proportion were ladies, attended the perform derella" last night. It was a droll burlesque, and (like every piece that Manager Whitman has present ed here; admirably mounted. The cast was excellent. We have seldom of late seen a dramatic enterment pass off with more eclat, and the enjoyment of the crowded house was reflected in the spirit and evident pleasure with which the actors rend red their several parts. The ballet interludes were different from any that had been denced during the previous orgagement of the company, and the pas, executed by the premiere danseuse bille. Diani, in the ball-room scene, was especially admired.

To-night we are to have, by way of farewell, the beautiful fairy spectacle of "Undine," with song and ballot and new dresses and seemle effects. Ever if it were not the last chance to see the brillian transformation scene, the excelence of the performance of last night would guarantee a crowded house. The company go northward to morrow.
